TREPASSEY, N.B.—May 15.—The men who started the N.C.-4, the first transatlantic flight, were unable to get away from the port last Thursday, compelling their return to Canada. WINNIPEG, May 15.—Winnipeg is now in the throes of the greatest labor strike of all time history. Estimates vary widely as to the total of number of people out on strike, these running from 15,000 to 27,000.

The mayor and city council are grappling with the problem of maintaining the essential services of public utilities, police and fire protection as the tie-up grows. Every walk of industrial and commercial life in the city is involved in the strike. Wholesale and retail stores are affected and in a number of cases closed. The large departmental stores experienced only a partial walkout, and are continuing to give service.

Veterans Behind Strike

What this meeting decides will affect the course of the strike. The veterans are in full sympathy with the purpose of the strike, and are supporting the general strike. They mean to preserve law and order.

The above resolution was unanimously passed at a mass meeting of the G.W.V.A., the Army and Navy League, the Royal Canadian Legion, and the Royal Canadian Legion Auxiliary.

The resolution was adopted by the Royal Canadian Legion Auxiliary.

IRIGIBLE C-5 IS WRECKED BY WIND AND SWEEPT TO SEA

ST. JOHNS, N.B.—May 15.—A 100-mile-tonne cyclone has torn the canvas bottom from United States dirigible C-5 this morning. The wind was so strong that it carried the airship away and it was carried across the Bay of Fundy.

Lauret G. Little, who was in command when the balloon broke loose, said he had been flying at 100 feet. He jumped free and was picked up by a boat. He was uninjured.

The crew of the C-5 was picked up by a boat.

More than 4,500 men, including naval officers, are now out in the waters of the Bay of Fundy, the Canadian Pacific, Canadian National and Montreal.

Tomorrow morning at 7:30 the two dirigibles will be sent to the coast of the United States.

SAYS TREATY IN PRESENT FORM IS UNACCEPTABLE

Head of German Delegation Says It Is Impossible of Fulfillment

Berlin, May 14.—Count von Brockdorff-Rauschen, head of the German peace delegation, in communicating to the other members of the delegation the results of his interview with Premier Clemenceau, pointed out that the peace treaty in its present form could not be signed because it had to be signed because it was impossible to fulfill its terms. Dispatches from Versailles say that Count von Brockdorff-Rauschen pointed out in this note that Germany could not accept the peace terms as they cannot be fulfilled. The German delegation can only accept the peace terms if they can be made more than 49,000,000 people.

The economic terms of the peace treaty, with their restrictions of trade and the limitation of armaments, the Germans, the note says, that "many millions of people in Germany will perish, and that the German people's health is already broken by the blockade."

The note points out that Germany in two generations has paid off its debts as an agrarian state. It could feed 40,000,000 people, but the blockade has prevented it from being able to provide food for 67,000,000 people.

Windsor, Ont., May 14.—The second annual convention of the Ontario command of the G. W. V. A. opened at the Hotel Windsor yesterday, with nearly 200 delegates in attendance. President Jenkins and all the provincial officers and veterans were extended an official welcome.

He believed the advocates of the scheme were not fully cognizant of the conditions.

Interest this afternoon and evening centered in the work of the commanding general, which among others, has been before it for consideration.

Other resolutions to be adopted included a resolution to oppose the fuel shortage, a request that the government set aside a day as a national day of thanksgiving, and a proposal to create a federal insurance fund for all men disabled through war, including permanently disabled men with a special badge to be worn on a belt.

Convocation of University Of Alberta Takes Place With Dignity and Solemn Splendor

Ninth Annual Event Is Held With Big Attendance and Appropriate Ceremony—Acting Principal Kerr Reviews Year's Work and Prospesics big influx of Students for Next Term.

With due dignity and with the solemn splendor, which usually characterizes such occasions, the ninth annual convocation of the University of Alberta was held Thursday afternoon in the hall of the Faculty of Medicine, with the presentation of medals and the capturing of degrees. The scene was old and familiar, yet ever new and fresh as the breath of the Spring day on which it was staged. It was an occasion because of its impressiveness, intended to be long remembered by the young men and women graduates leaving college halls to take up life's work and responsibilities. Several hundred students of the occasion were home in upon one another, as promptly at the hour of the solemn procession of graduates, faculty and other scholars, clad in their college robes and adorned with symbols of honor and scholarship, began up the long aisle of Convocation Hall and assumed the state upon the platform.

In front of the platform and holding sprays of fragrant flowers, there knelt the members of the graduating class, smiling youths and blushing maiden, each in turn to accept investiture of the green and white bachelor's hood and to receive the diploma, signs and symbols of a complete course of studies and the beginning life's work and services.

Prudential and patriotic, the students, heartened by the success of their seniors, made the hall ring to the echo with their joyous applause.

Low down the convocation steps from all over the city and from different parts of the province, representing various professions and callings, adumbrated by redoubtable men, the space between the corridor, the acting president, Dean Kerr; the trustees; the board of governors;

Chief Justice Harvey; the convocation speaker; the deans; the

FRIDAY, MAY 16, 1919.

New Carrier.

An aero club is being started in Edmonton, as similar organizations are being started in all the larger cities of the Dominion. The aim is to create a national organization whose purpose will be to bring the airplane into commercial use.

The surprising thing about this development is that the aeroplane will not exceed $1000. The war has brought the airplane into use as a swift and dependable means of communication and transportation. How largely it will be used in the course of business and intercourse, and how rapidly the adaptation will take place, no one can foretell. The one sure thing is that it comes to stay, and to enter into competition with other carriers.

One phase that is of national importance is the prospect of building up in Canada a great industry in the manufacture of aircraft machines. British Columbia was used very extensively during the war in the construction of planes in every Allied country, and it is declared that the demand for aircrafts is greater than for parts such machines. With this advantage Canada should be able to become one of the large producing countries as the demand for carriers is developed.

All At It?

Correspondence brought down from the Shell Oil company has been reaching for a week on the oil fields of Alberta since July 1, 1917, making three several proposals to the Government. The definite statement is made that on March last, the Minister of the Interior rejected the last of the three proposals.

The Government is thereby definitely on record by official statement to the effect that the date of the coming of oil to the oil fields of Alberta was given as concessionary, whether they knew the efforts after that date and whether negotiations of any sort were continuing.

Canada or between the head of the company and our component of overseas ministers, was not given out.

The persistence, with which the oil men have tried to get control of the resources, shows their confidence that there are oil deposits the north well worth getting control of, and their readiness to take a vast sum of money on the part of the oil companies for their information and conclusion.

It likewise suggests that the first approaches of the company were not rejected with the flat and absolute denial of further offers. They seem to have been convinced that it was only a case of "keep asking" and they would receive. That is likely enough, in the opinion, and further attempts to raid the field are to be looked for. The game will stand watching.

O. B. U.

L. W. Foch under any other name is the same decision to the weaker and the same menace to society, and requires the same sort of treatment.

New Field.

M. J. Hutchison, late food controller of Canada, is in London to assist the Canadian trade mission in an advisory capacity." The British consumer is entitled to sympathy.

The Main Condition.

The most potent condition put before the German envoys is the unwritten one that Foch is to keep the watch on the Rhine until Berlin makes up its mind to sign. That is the sort of diplomacy the enemy takes seriously.

The Wallers and Their Dupes.

Chancellor Scheidemann has added his testimony to that of President Ebert to assure all and sundry that the terms of the peace treaty impose punishment upon Germany in keeping with its crimes.

This outburst of protest in Berlin will not mislead those who have taken the trouble to digest the history of the peace treaty. It has been published and do who do not view the record of the criminal through a haze of sentimentialism. The treaty lets Germany off scot-free.

But the wailing chorus is not without effect in some sections of the Allied world. A Zurich dispatch says that the international press has been trying to make a fuss over the conduct of women. There are soft-headed persons in every Allied camp who are coaxed and coddled into changing his spots. It is to them Berlin is directing its shrieks.

Saturday Is Preferable.

The object in closing stores and other business places half-day Saturday is that the employees may have a half-holiday. In fact, therefore, that this purpose should be the deciding factor in determining which day they shall close.

As a holiday Saturday afternoon is beyond question preferable to any other. It gives an opportunity for those who wish to get out of the city for the weekend, and enjoy a real break in the round of existence. During the hot months a vacation would be particularly beneficial to the health and spirits of people who spend their lives confined in store or office.

Closing the stores on Saturday afternoon would be a benefit to those for whom the respite was granted. An expedition into the country, or to one of the summer resorts, getting away from the heat and turning up at work the next day more weary than if the afternoon had been spent at work. In the vast majority of cases the Wednesday half-holiday "holiday" was spent around home, and about as well have been spent in the store or office.

Closing the stores on Saturday afternoon would be a benefit to the public to some extent. This cannot be avoided. The public will be more or less inconvenienced whatever day is chosen. If exception stores were made of meat markets and stores selling perishable food the public convenience would probably not be much greater if shops generally closed on Saturday rather than some other afternoon.

With the Humorists.

You Can Never Tell. One evening recently a citizen was crossing Washington Street when an automobile whizzed by, the side door open, and the driver, a man in a suit, leaped off to one side.

"What's the fellow driving?" cried the driver of the machine. "You're not running back again," he said, not pausing to look at the man who was.

An Absurd Question. "You sign this deed of your own free will," said the man who was.

"What do you mean by that?" demanded the man who was. "I'm not signing any paper."

Somebody Is a Name. "See what I said that I didn't know when I signed that paper?" she said. "I got a job a few days ago in a shop."

"I'm not the man who was," she said, looking at him. "But who goes his way with his head held high?"

And the man who was is the man who hears.

She was the only person in his shop. But who goes his way with his head held high?"

And his name is the rocks of the failure by.

For he is the man who wins.

The Empire Comedy Four
RETURNS TO PANTAGES

The Empire Comedy Four—Jenny, famous quartette and funny girls, will be back at Pantages next week. They will present some new songs and comedy that have made them well renowned, all next week.

The Pantages is the place to convey proper appreciation of this Four, with the undisputed reputation of being one of the best groups of sixteen consecutive years. It is the history of the variation on this comedy. Its successes have been scored in all the great cities of America, and it has made four European tours.

The Empire Comedy Four is the straight—old legged and Joe Jerry's eccentric "Dutch" character they will be sure to bring a new and always novel with them. It never fails to tickle the risibilities of their audiences. A great success in the original grandiose, the Empire Comedy Four would win it easily.

JOYOUS MESSAGE

Klaw & Erlanger and George Edwardes, the managers, and the Chisholm Cushing is the dramatist; and Eleanor H. Porter is the author.
